

Moritz Kraemer
Managing Director and Chief Rating Officer
Sovereign Ratings

Moritz Kraemer, a German national, joined S&P in 2001. He is a Managing Director and Chief Rating Officer at Standard & Poor's Ratings Service's Sovereign Ratings Group. Until August 2013 he was the Head of the Sovereign Ratings Group for Europe, Middle East and Africa (EMEA).

Before joining S&P Moritz was an Economist with the Inter-American Development Bank in Washington DC, working with governments in Latin America in the design and implementation of economic policy reforms (mainly fiscal reform and decentralization).

Moritz holds a Ph.D. in Economics from the University of Göttingen (Germany), where he was a researcher and lecturer at the Ibero-America Institute of Economic Research and the Faculty of Economics from 1992 through 1996. He studied Economics, Latin American Studies and Literature in Frankfurt, Southampton and San Diego.